COCK OF THE BAY YACHT RACE

This hugely popular 21 nautical mile race on Port Phillip is held each year on Boxing Day and, with a course designed to sail past major bay locations, is popular with sailors and spectators alike. Some say there is no better way to work off the excesses of Christmas the day before.

Besides being a great race in its own right, the event serves as a feeder for the 50th Melbourne to Hobart blue water classic, which starts the next day from Portsea.

This race is open to yachts racing with full crew, "4 plus autohelm" and Double Handed, as well as cruising non spinnaker and multihull.

There are great vantage points for spectators at Port Melbourne, St Kilda pier, Brighton Pier, Sandringham and Hampton foreshore as the fleet head towards the Mornington finish.
